I've tried counting the words in "5,6,7,8,9,10,11,11" using StreamXL but that only works with regular expressions. edit: I've used readchar() to remove before reading the file and readline() to read each line. After processing the lines, I've only counted the words that are separated by space. Is there a way to count words without using extra libraries? A: You could use a regular expression for that.

import re
text = '5,6,7,8,9,10,11,11' pattern = re.compile('(\d\d),(\d\d),(\d\d),(\d\d),(\d\d),(\d\d),(\d\d),(\d\d)') return len(pattern.split(text))

Should give you the count of words in your example text.

the best! South Island in New Zealand is declared a territory of Unesco – The World Heritage in July 2007 and already the island of Heihei is classified as a Natural World Heritage.

Haarlemmerhout This is a magical garden in the heart of Haarlemmerhout, in the north of Amsterdam. A pleasant stroll along the wooden paths leads to the oldest and most beautiful garden complex in Amsterdam, which was built in 1669. The large area of more than an hectare includes a beautiful and almost original, elegant, 17th century entrance gate and a lot of paths for strolling and walking. Annenberg – Plesins – The spacious garden with large hedge walls is located on the eastern side of the Haarlemmerhout shopping area, in the middle of a residential area. This is a small and peaceful garden with a feeling of a private sanctuary. Molenvliet – A must for lovers of flowers and all who love nature. In this beautiful garden there are a lot of paths and walking trails, through the manicured gardens with ancient and beautiful trees, through the pond and a fine architectural backdrop (wall, gazebo, arched bridges). Molenvliet is a favourite among the ladies and is suitable for small children. Brooklands – Check out the local flora at the Botanical Garden in the middle
