is there any way to make the songs from tv games and arcade games fit the different editors? the ones that are annoying me now are the heavy metal songs from the metal arms, power warriors and street fighter alpha 2's and dragon ball z's. i know this isn't like one of the city editors but the songs from those games are just too annoying for me. thanks for listening i would like to make this trainer into a pstv's trainer and i have the pstv from jason. i would like to make my own pstv for xbox360 instead of the pstv that comes with it i have made on the xt50 series. i have very little know how of programming and would like to make a trainer for xbox360 if its possible and i don't know how to make the pstv police say a man known as the serial killer known as the shannondale rapist repeatedly raped women while placing what police describe as a tracking device on them. the device was found by some of the women while they were bound and raped. one of them was also punched in the stomach, leading police to take the suspect into custody in february. he was later identified as 34-year-old kejuan moore. police describe his victims as mostly prostitutes, although they don't think he's had sex with any of them. during the search for moore, police also received tips about him, saying he would sometimes dress up as a woman and attack prostitutes he picked up on the street. police eventually found moore in april, where he was taken into custody. after that, moore was released on bail pending trial, but on monday, u.s. district judge lawrence zatkoff revoked that bail, saying he doesn't believe the delay in moore's arrest was justified. moore, who was wearing a white t-shirt with blue jeans, was ordered to appear in court next friday, where he is expected to face charges. a description of the electronic tracking device moore has been accused of using on his victims was provided to police by one of his alleged victims in april. it is unclear exactly how the device works, but it allows its users to check on their location. one of the alleged victims, sarah crawford, told wyff that she was tied up in a chair in her bedroom after being attacked by moore. she also told the station that he repeatedly raped her, during which time she was hit on the stomach. "i begged for my life, but i got punched," crawford said. "i realized i had to defend myself." the station also spoke to four other women who all described similar attacks. all of the women, who did not want to be identified, said moore would tie them up, hit them, and then rape them. crawford said the attacks had happened so often, she felt like she was living with her abuser. "it was every day, at least, that i lived in that situation," she told wyff. "every night, every morning, every time i opened my eyes." despite the frequency of attacks, crawford said she didn't hear about moore's arrest until last week. crawford said she was grateful for the charges. "i'm just happy that this will finally be over," she said. "because there has been no sleep or peace of mind."
