The mother was not black. It represents the color white which means purity. It can occur in any race though its not clear why and how. Most of the time whiter people have more power and control when they are oppressing others in any way because they think they are superior. Because the mother is a woman, she became a symbol of good motherhood because motherhood mean everything to a woman. The title itself is a sign of magnificence because the mother became that symbol to the whole society. She is a mother who deals with her child in a uniqu manner. After the mother left the room, Vicente did not intend to do anything. He found out that his project has failure because the little girl hadnt spent the whole night and morning with him. Her mother know this and give orders to the child. So he put more pressure on the girl by making her to teach the boy. The little girl was already exhausted. She became to her mother that Vicente did that because he was a wealthy conductor. However, because her mother becomes a helper for Vicente, the mother became to be helped by the rich family. That explains the addition of the Marxist theory which is a important part of Magnificence In Magnificence, the girl seeks to know her father where is she going to find him or how she is going to find him. She knows that her father might be far but she thinks that by the power of the universe, she has a chance to find him. She knows that her father will find her and the mother will stop him or take him away from her. The reason why the girl come to the tower is to find her father because she knows that if she dont find her father, she might be in danger. So she seeks to find her father in his place because he is the only one who can save her.

I think that the abundance that Aida saw in her lives makes her to write her story with the Marxist perspective. In the Love in the Corn Husk by Aida Rivera-Ford, the main character, Alice Dobson, is oppressed because of her sexual objectification. She should not be judged because she is a victim of sexual abuse and the person who is abusing her should be punished. In Magnificence by Estrella Alfon, the mother tries to respect the laws and government to protect her daughter. In The Visitation of the Gods by Gilda Cordero-Fernando, the main character, Lupita is oppressed because of gender and gender based violence. Lupita wants to resolve her problems especially with her husband. When Lupita married, she promised to love him and accept him for who he is. Unfortunately, Lupita was driven to marriage with a man that she doesn't love because she had to earn money to take care of her parents. She cannot even raise her voice because of the shame for being driven to marry the man she does not want. As a woman, Lupita is left alone to work. Lupita is a victim of Gender Based Violence. The Virgin by Kerima Polotan-Tuvera tells us that what a woman wants and what she needs are different. This is why women who are not happy with their current partners should ask for a divorce. A woman like María who is still in love with her husband is the Virgin. According to Polotan-Tuvera, the Virgin wants to be free to be herself. But as María found the man of her dreams, she can't face the reality of being with him because of the shame. María thinks that she has lost him forever.

According to Marxist Criticism, the Irony should be used to expose and give people about the reality of their oppressions. In Magnificence, the irony could be the narrative technique used to solve the problems of the young girl and the mother. 5ec8ef588b
