restricted murine influenza virus-specific cytotoxic T lymphocyte response in vivo. We will first ask the question whether viral infection per se triggers the induction of CTL, and whether it is a necessary step for the induction of cell-mediated immunity in vivo. This will be investigated by the generation and testing of recombinant influenza virus mutants, to exclude any auxiliary virus-specific helper activity. Also, the contribution of the following factors to the generation of virus-specific CTL-responses in vivo will be investigated: a) Th1- (IFN-gamma) vs Th2- (IL-4) cytokine activity; b) CD4 vs CD8 T cell subsets; and c) dendritic cells (DC) vs non DC effectors. We will also investigate the function of non-lymphoid cells as a source of costimulatory molecules.-
