I have 2 classes one which is called Actor and the other one is Vehicle. Actor class has a List with Vehicle objects and I want to access the variables of the Vehicle object using reflection. For Example: I have a Person class which has a list of Vehicle objects. I want to access the variables of Vehicle objects using reflection and display it in a textbox or another vehicle like the driver. I was trying to do this in the following manner using reflection. Actor s2 = (Actor)cls.createInstance(); Vehicle v = (Vehicle)s2.getVehicleList().get(0); Field f = v.class.getDeclaredField("engineAttrib"); f.setAccessible(true); float ea = f.getFloat(v); The above code doesn't work and compiles properly because f.setAccessible(true) shouldn't be used when accessing private variables through reflection. This is a code snippet in a project using reflection to access private variables from public class. Is there a way through reflection to access private or protected variables?
