A user on a cell phone in a vehicle may be distracted by incoming calls, messages, and other phone calls. The distraction is particularly likely to be a problem if the user is a cell phone user who is driving a vehicle. A user on a cell phone while driving may frequently exchange messages while driving, and may have a cell phone and an external cell phone (e.g., from another user or a corporation) concurrently connected to the user's cell phone. Thus, when a new call arrives for the user, the user may be distracted by receiving the incoming call on the external cell phone. { stdenv, fetchurl, automake, pkgconfig, autoreconfHook, glib, glib-networking, cairo, gtk, libX11, mesa, openssl, libsoup, libxml2, libidn, curl, lame, libxslt, gtkmm, libdc1394, readline, pcre, jpeg, zlib, meson, lsof, dh-autoreconf, sqlite, doxygen, lsof, libpcap, gst-plugins-base, useGStreamer, enableGStreamerPlugins }; stdenv.mkDerivation rec { pname = "gnome-shell"; version = "3.32.0"; postPatch = " # Fix building with llvm-3.8 sed -i/s/ #include
