Hmmm...we can only imagine the response if Mitt Romney launched a political ad featuring his 47% comment. I'd go so far as to say it would be a flashback to the Rick Perry fiasco of 2011. What I have decided is that Mittens may have resigned as a candidate over the 47% comment, but he doesn't have to resign as the guy who is running the Republican party. So, he was right the first time when he said something stupid. You don't need to apologize to the left. Just show up at every Tea Party Rally and say that you didn't say what they said you said. You see, Mittens is right that a lot of the left is turning on him. What they don't know, and what we must tell them, is that he was right. Of course, there is the possibility that this video is just an April Fool's prank. So, you have to take it with a grain of salt and ask "well, where is the video?"
