It is a guide to eating, drinking, breathing, getting enough sleep, seeing the doctor, paying for the car, and whatever else needed to take care of your skin and your life. Those of us who have used products that were not the best for our skin and our health know how important it is to take better care of our skin, but Personal Perfection: Healthy Skin, Happy Life proves that you can get plenty of great ideas and information about skin care at one glance and while doing it, enjoy healthy skin. This is a wonderful resource and I plan to refer to it often. Description: Your skin is the first line of defense against the elements. It gives you a barrier between you and the air and protects your eyes, lungs, and digestive system. Look at your skin and you can determine if your lifestyle is getting you ready for aging well. Over the past decade, much has changed in the way our skin looks, feels, and functions. We've been told that, "less is more" when it comes to cosmetics. For women specifically, it is safe, affordable, and easy to look natural and feel good with less—and Personal Perfection lets you decide if that's your goal.
